CARDS UNCOVER LOST PUNCH IN HAMMERING PHILS FOR 25 HITS

Champs Rack Up Fourth Straight Victory; Yanks Boost Lead.

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals, it would seem, finally have found the batting punch they mislaid at the close of the 1931 season.

Most of the world's champions' woes this campaign can be traced almost entirely to weakness at the plate, but there have been many encouraging signs for Manager Gabby Street the last few days in winning their last four games, one from the Giants and three from the Phillies, the Cardinals have banged out 70 hits, good for 41 runs, the best sustained offensive the champions have shown all season.

Yesterday they walloped five Philly pitchers for 25 hits to gain an 18-13 victory and strengthen their hold on sixth place. Bottomley hit two home runs.

The Chicago Cubs moved to within a half-game of the National league lead by nipping the New York Giants, 4-3, while the Pirates were submitting to their tenth consecutive defeat, a 4-0 shutout by Huck Betts and the Boston Braves.

Harvey Hendrick clouted a double and three singles as Cincinnati tripped Brooklyn, 9-8 in 10 innings.

The New York Yankees added another half-game to their already impressive American league lead by beating the St. Louis Browns, 8-3. It took Babe Ruth's thirty-second homer with two on in the sixth to provide the winning margin.

Washington turned back the Cleveland Indians, 4-2, although Fred Marberry had to relieve Alvin Crowder in the ninth and put down a threatening Indian rally that scored one run and put the tying runs on base.

Detroit pounded Boston pitching for an aggregate of 26 hits, including five doubles, a triple and two home runs, and won both ends of a double-header, 8-2 and 9-7.

SWIM STARS SMASH OLYMPIC RECORDS

Japan Looms as Team Champion After Brilliant Showing in Preliminary Heats.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10 — Officials that the string of record breaking performances which marked the first four days of the tenth Olympiad, might be broken were also today as the swimming carnival passed the half-way mark.

Every Olympic record approached by the wayfarers of the waterways has been shattered. Three world's records also have been left in the wake of the competitors.

Japan, with three finalists in the men's 400 meter free style race, apparently stood in a strategic position to move into the baseline team lead. The Nipponese trailed by only four points after yesterday's triumph in the 800-meter relay.

Takashityoyama, who twice has broken the 400 meter mark in the competition, was favored over Jean Taris of France; Andrew (boy) Charlton of Australia, and Clarence Crabbe of United States, on the basis of his Olympic record of 4 52.4 set yesterday.

Crabbe Qualifies

Charlton and Crabbe consider the 1,500 meter free style their best race, and Yokoyama beat Taris yesterday.

After swimming his record bent of the 400-meters in record time, the Nipponese star swam anchor on the 800 meter relay team which cut 38.2 seconds off the 1928 Olympic record set by the United States.

Yokoyama stood off Manuella Kalili's late rush Joe the United States, to win by five meters in 8:58.4, with the Yankees second, some 25 seconds under the old record and Hungary third, also bettering the old mark.

Meanwhile Eleanor Holm, American girl, who gave the fellies a fleeting fling, won her way to the finals of the 100 meter backstroke by swimming by both the Olympic and world's marks in 1:183.

Than Clara Dennis, a 14-year-old youngster from Australia, won the 200-meter breaststroke final to send the Anzac Banner up the victory mast.

Miss Dennis reduced her own Olympic record almost two seconds, and eclipsed the world's recognized mark in paddling the distance in 3:06.3. The United States was forced to be contented with fifth, sixth and seventh in the race.

Water Polo is Thorn

Water polo continued a thorn for the officials. After the Brazilian team had been disqualified for assaulting the referee, the American season carried on hot verbal exchanges with A. Drinkhaye, referee, yesterday, in a wild game with Germany which ended in a 4 to 3 victory for Belgium.

The women's springboard diving championship today figured to be an all-American contest with Georgia Coleman and Dorothy Poynton, California stars, and little Kathrine Rawls, of Florida, the favorites.

12 Postponed Games Left on Softball Sked

Unless rain interferes with the playing of games scheduled for the rest of this week there will be 12 postponed or tie games to be played off following the end of the season on Friday of this week. Two weeks will be allowed to play them off. The playing schedule of the delayed tilts will be released within the next few days by Elmer Shaw, schedule maker of the city softball leagues.

Below is listed the postponed or tie games as compiled by Shaw today. If there are any team managers who know of postponed or tie games which are not included on this list, Shaw has asked that they get in touch with him at the Y or with Bob Kirkpatrick at The Star.

No. 2 Sunday school league: Christian Seniors vs. Epworth Seniors; Christian Seniors vs. First Reformed.

No. 1 Sunday school league: Epworth No. 1 vs. Calvary; First Presbyterian vs. St. Mary.

Industrial League: Huber vs. Augenstein A. C.; Eagles vs. Steam Shovel; Eagles vs. C. D. & M.; Eagles vs. Erie, and Eagles vs. Excavator-Alloy.

Shovel A. A. To Sponsor Tennis Tourney Sunday

Continuing its program of doing everything possible to promote the amateur sports program of Marion the Marion Steam Shovel athletic association is sponsoring a Marion city tennis tournament to get under way Sunday, Aug. 14. The matches will be open to any resident of the city and will include play in the men and women's singles and the men's doubles. There will be no women's doubles.

The matches will all be played on the clay courts at the Shovel Athletic field on Umpher avenue. Each entrant will be required to pay an entrance fee of 25 cents, the entrance fee to go toward furnishing trophies for the winners and for tourney expenses. Entries may be filed at the Y. M. C. A. and must be filed not later than 6 p. m. Friday, Aug. 12. The entrance fee must accompany filing of entry. Information may be obtained at the Y or if not available there may be obtained from Bob Wolfinger.

Pairings for the first matches of the tournament will be announced Saturday following the drawings Friday night. The first matches will be played Sunday and others will follow any time after that at the convenience of the contestants.

STILL UNDECIDED

No Action Taken on Preshie Protest by City Commission.

A possibility that the Presbyterian protest of the defeat by Calvary will not ever be heard by the city softball commission loomed today as the commission again deferred action on the question last night. For the second time, after members were eliminated from voting who have official connection with the teams involved, there were insufficient members left to constitute a quorum.

The Presbyterians are now one game in the lead in the race for the championship with one game left to play. Should the Preshies beat the Irish in this one game on Wednesday, Aug. 17 the protest would likely be dropped without action as any action taken would have no bearing on the outcome of the race. However, should the Irish win, the commission would have to rule on the protest. A meeting of the commission has been ordered immediately following the Preshie-Irish game on the 17th.

IRISH KNOCKED OFF 4-2 BY TRINITY AS WAINFOR HITS HOMER

Epworth No. 1 Victims of Presbies; Bishops Rap Calvary; Lee Street Wins.

The First Presbyterians took what appears to be a strangle hold on the No. 1 Sunday school league championship yesterday afternoon by pounding out a 7-4 victory over John Clark's Epworth No. 1 team. The victory, coupled with the defeat of St. Mary by Trinity Baptist, gives the Presbyterians a lead of one full game with one game left to play. Should the Preshies beat the Irish in the playoff of their one postponed tilt next week the Prospect street team will be league champs. Should the Irish win the standings will be thrown into a three-way tie with Lee Street, Presbyterians and St. Mary all sharing the top, necessitating a post-season playoff to decide the winner.

HOW THEY STAND
S. S. League No. 1

Team.	W	L	Pct
Presbyterians	10	3	.769
Lee Street	10	4	.714
St. Mary	9	4	.692
Trinity Baptist	9	5	.643
Epworth Bishops	8	5	.572
Calvary	5	8	.385
Epworth No 1	2	11	.154
Lutherans	1	12	.077

The Preshies racked up their victory despite some plain and fancy second basing by Everett Miller of the Methodist combine. Miller turned in a good game at the keystone sack but his efforts went for naught as the Preshies took other avenues to gain their seven tallies. Don Shoemaker throttled all of the Clarkmen's efforts to break loose with any kind of a hitting spree, the Preshie right hander giving up but seven hits. Zig Snyder was touched for 14 bingles by the winners.

It took eight innings a four base wallop for the Baptists to hang the surprise beating on the Irish. The Irish chased a run across in the first and saw the lead melt away as the Baptists chalked up a pair in the second. The teams battled to a standstill until the Irish finally tied up in the sixth inning.

It took Doc Wainfor to break up the ball game in the eighth frame. The first man up in the eighth went out. Walt Merchant drew a walk and Wainfor then connected with one for a four base ride that produced two runs, one more than enough to win the game. Kimball gave the Irish five hits and Gunder was nicked for nine safeties by the Baptists.

Up until this season the Epworth Bishops had never beaten Calvary. The hoodoo was shattered in the first meeting of the two this season when the Bishops won 7-6. Yesterday whatever part of the jinx may have been left was wiped out as the Bishops clubbed out a 7-1 victory. Walt Baldauf's slants were not a very difficult puzzle for the Bishops and this fact, combined with very ragged Calvary fielding, gave the Methodists an easy victory. Jack Ling pitched a good game, holding the losers to three hits.

Lee Street caused the Lutherans to hit the skids right out of the league by taking the thirteenth game of the season from the last placers. The last place team in the circuit annually drops to the No. 2 league and the Lutherans are the victims of this rule this season. Their place will be filled by the champions of the No. 2 league, who move up to No. 1.

Shorty Richards held the Lutherans to three hits while his mates were pounding out 11 safeties good for seven tallies. Not more than one of the three hits came in any one inning.

Each of these nations [illegible] clean sweeps in fights yesterday and last night that saw 19 aspirants sweep into the [illegible] Italy had victorious candidates [illegible] the flyweight, lightweight and welterweight ranks. Germany [illegible] had winners in each of these [illegible] while Americans had their [illegible] raised in bouts in the flyweight, bantamweight and welterweight classes.

The formidable contingent from Argentina fared badly in the bouts. Three of the South American stars were eliminated.

Eddie Flynn of New Orleans, Uncle Sam's hope in the 147 pound group, outpointed the Argentine Sardella, after a close bout. Louis Salica of Brooklyn, and Joe Lang of San Francisco, were the other American winners, Salica defeating John Callura of Canada, in a 112-pound bout and Lang winning from Sabino Tirado, Mexican bantamweight.

While the first day's bouts were devoid of knockouts, the closing contest of the night saw Alberto Romero of Mexico, lose on a cut in the third round to David McCleave, English welterweight. The boy from Great Britain was carried to his dressing room.

"Oh Yeah?

BUT SCIENCE SAYS O. G. IS THE BEST CIGARETTE"

Wherever you are . . . those tireless cigarette ads will find you! Each urging its own special claim!

Milder! Fresher! Kinder! Good words, but do they constitute proof?

Forget the adjectives for a moment . . . and listen to the findings of Science.

A great testing laboratory recently made 75 tests* of 4 leading brands. These tests, verified by scientists of two universities, proved that the smoke of OLD GOLD is cooler, hence more appealing and easier on the throat.

COOLNESS is the key to quality in a cigarette. The finer the tobacco . . . the cooler the smoke. The PURER the tobacco . . . the cooler the smoke. The more artificial flavoring . . . the HOTTER the smoke.

When Science found O. G. the coolest cigarette, it simply verified the fact that OLD GOLD is made of PURE tobacco: the choicest Grade "A" domestic and Turkish leaf, with no artificial flavoring. That's the reason for OLD GOLD'S superior flavor, throat-ease and taste appeal. Smoke the coolest cigarette . . . and you smoke the best.

*This is to certify that in 75 repeated tests made with the leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette by the Calorimeter method . . . it was shown that OLD GOLD is from 112 to 156 B. T. U's. COOLER than the other brands. Careful measurement of the heat of the smoke further confirmed the fact that the smoke of OLD GOLD is definitely cooler.

GRAIN PRICES IN EARLY RISE

Upturn of Securities Followed by Advance of Chicago Wheat

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Aug 10—Influenced by upturns of securities grain prices scored an early advance today Offerings of wheat were scant until the market bulged On the stock market higher wheat after ward reacted Corn started unchanged to ½@¾ up and later eased

Reluctant to assume new commitments pending the issuance of the United States and Canadian crop reports due after today's close had a tendency to handicap bulls although yields both from spring wheat and from corn were expected to be reduced compared with a month ago Outside stockbuying of wheat increased and the market rose to well above early gains Likelihood of a bullish surprise in the United States government crop report was suggested similar to that in cotton

Considerable notice was taken of cable advices that only meager yields of wheat were shown in Rumania Bulgaria Hungary Jugo-Slavia It was asserted that Jugo-Slavia would have but a very small surplus of wheat for export this season and that the other countries named would have to replace wheat crop shortage by purchases of corn There was talk also that recent selling of wheat futures here had been chiefly on the part of the eleventh hour buyers and that concentrated eastern holdings remained intact Corn and oats proved responsive to wheat rallies Provisions were neglected

MILLERS WIN

Association Leaders Break Long Losing Streak Against Louisville

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Aug 10 It took them 11 innings last night to do it but the Minneapolis Millers finally managed to break out of the slump at least enough to hold the American Association leadership

Rosy Ryan and Archie McKain Louisville's young southpaw engaged in a great pitching battle until the second overtime frame when Minneapolis scored four runs to win 7 to 3

Columbus and Indianapolis remained in lockstep behind the Millers The Red Birds also did some vigorous work in the final inning to gain a 6 to 3 decision over Kansas City for their eighth straight victory Pat Crawford and George Selkirk who has been hitting sensationally for Columbus since he joined the club two weeks ago got home runs to keep the Birds in the running

Elmer Van Older the set hurler helped Indianapolis to a 7 to 2 victory over St Paul in a night game

HEIR TO BARONETCY MISSING IN AMERICA

Identity Remains Mystery Since Death of Sir George Power.

By International News Service

LONDON — Somewhere in the United States there may be a man who is the rightful heir to an English baronetcy. His identity remains a mystery.

For almost four years the strange story of the Singing Baronet and the Missing Heir has remained unfinished.

It all began with the death of Sir George Power in 1928. Sir George was a London singing-teacher who had once been a member of the original Gilbert and Sullivan Opera company, and had created the role of Ralph Rackstraw in Pinafore.

With the death of Sir George, a cousin, Gervase Parker Power, was next in the line of succession for the baronetcy, but this cousin, born in 1840, and gone to America many years ago, had not been heard of since. He was known to his relatives as "American Geoff."

Whether "American Geoff" is alive or dead, and whether he has left an heir remains a mystery.

If these questions remained unanswered, the baronetcy would normally pass to Anthony Ambrose Grafton Power, a 14-year-old schoolboy. His father, a major in the Royal Munster Fusiliers, died in 1926.

The Power baronetcy was created in 1536. The next holders of the title will be the eighth baronet.

The first dam in French Morocco solely for irrigation purposes recently was completed. About 12 miles from Casablanca by the government as one of four that are planned.

PAT CROWE HAS CRIME AID PLAN

By United Press

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Pat Crowe, famous kidnaper who collected $25,000 ransom for the release of "Eddie" Cudahy 30 years ago, has a suggestion for the reduction of crime in the United States.

Make farmers of convicts, he urges as a way of overcoming the crime wave.

Tall, white haired, the 62-year-old man who escaped punishment for the kidnaping because there was no statute to fit the crime, advised young men to go straight.

He favors abandonment of contract labor in stuffy prisons and transportation of criminals to farms where they can work in the open and gain a new prospective on life.

The funeral will be conducted Friday at 10 a. m. at the home. Burial will be made in Hopewell cemetery near Claibornе.

CHARGES LIQUOR, DINNER TO TOWN

By United Press

CRANSTON, R. I.—Peleg Williams, a town official in 1781, made the following purchases from Gideon Arnold, an innkeeper, in October of that year, according to a bill found among faded records in the cellar of city hall:

"1 dinner and a bole of grog, 3 shillings, 2 pence; 2 nips of grog, 11 pence; 2 nips of brandy and one bole of grog, 11 pence, bole of grog, half gill of rum, 1 shilling, 6 pence; 2 one-half boles of grog, 3 shillings; 1 mug of cydre, 2 gills of rum, 1 shilling, 8 pence; 1 gill of rum, 7 pence; 2 nips of grog, supper and lodging, 2 shillings, 11 pence.

Incidentally, Williams told Arnold to "charge it to the town," but no record could be found to show the town had paid.

"PASSPORT TO HELL" WILL OPEN RUN AT OHIO ON THURSDAY

Elissa Landi and Paul Lukas are co-featured in "A Passport to Hell" which will show Thursday through Saturday at the Ohio. Warner Oland and Alexander Kirkland carry important roles.

ELISSA LANDI

Much of the action of the picture takes place aboard a ship, the "Barbarossa," which was once the "Playa Ensenada," and the property of Jack Dempsey. Dempsey bought the ship in the days when money was rolling in and fitted it luxuriously.

The picture was made from a story by Harry Hervey and was directed by Frank Lloyd. The technical department of the studio transposed the west coast of Catalina island into an African village with palm-lined streets and a number of buildings, to film many of the sequences of the picture.

OAKIE PICTURE "FOOLISHLY FUNNY"

Jack Oakie, brush salesman and trainer of the Klopstokian Olympic team, leads a galaxy of slapstick comedy stars to success in "Million Dollar Legs," at the Palace theater. Training for the games and the trip to this country provide plenty of action and entertainment for a none-too-serious audience. The "Million Dollar Legs" must belong to Ben Turpin, Klopstokian part-time spy and major-domo to the president of the country, who brings honors to his native land by running in the Olympic games.

Oakie's business is to raise money for the president of Klopstokia in order that he can marry his daughter, Susan Fleming. Being a good salesman he also is a good promoter and wins the girl. Lyda Roberti, as the girl "no man can resist" is all that can be asked as a dancer and W. C. Fields, Hank Mann and the remainder of the cast do their part to make the picture just what it is, foolishly funny.

Shorts include interesting curiosities and travel pictures and a Terry tune.

LOVE STORY TOLD IN FILM AT MARION

Sally Blane, a model, falls in love with John Darrow, son of the head of the advertising agency for which she poses, and the father immediately raises objections in "Forbidden Company," the picture which will show tonight and Thursday at the Marion.

Myrtle Stedman, Darrow's mother, sympathizes with her son in his love for the little model, and when the father, John St. Polis, places her in the compromising situation of taking his check after he has told her that marriage with his son would ruin his career, the mother does everything to bring the two lovers together.

To end the story, the mother is in an accident and an immediate blood transfusion is necessary. Miss Blane volunteers and the father takes no more objections to the marriage when he finds it out. A glimpse is seen of Bryant Washburn, once star-villain of the silent screen. A comedy and short subjects complete the bill. M. H.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE LOAN CO. OFFERED

Fred Barringer Proposes To Give Personal Notes to Creditors of Company.

A plan whereby it is hoped that the Marion Chattel Loan Co of 136 South State street can be reorganized as a going concern and taken out of receivership has been proposed to creditors of the company by Fred E Barringer of Lima a former partner in the company.

Under the proposed plan creditors of the company would be given Mr Barringer's personal note for the amounts of their claims pledging full amount of the principal due them and interest from the date of reorganization.

Letters proposing this procedure have been mailed to the record list of the company and already 70 per cent of them have approved it.

Mr Barringer stated that all creditors of the company not agree to the plan before it can be put in operation. He hopes to have these men all signed by Aug 15.

Mr Barringer operates a chattel loan company in Lima and formerly operated a company at Terre Haute Ind. He is a brother of James M Barringer former manager of the company.

In the meantime the company will remain in charge of Mr Austin Potter who was appointed by Common Pleas Judge George J Scofield. Proofs of credit as claims are now being received and will be taken until Sept 10.

Mrs J T McNamara Announces Benefit Wrestling Show Monday Night.

An appeal for the support of the clinic at the CLC hospital was made by Mrs J T McNamara a member of the hospital board in a talk before the Rotary club at the luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding yesterday noon.

After outlining some of the things that has been accomplished by the clinic and of the distress among the residents which would follow should it be discontinued because of lack of funds Mrs McNamara announced that a benefit wrestling show would be given at the Steam Shovel open air arena Monday night the proceeds to go toward the support of the clinic.

L L Stang chairman of a committee in charge of arranging a golf match with members of the Kiwanis club announced the challenge had been delivered and the tentative date of the match was fixed for two weeks from today.

Several selections by members of the boys glee club from North Eastern college at Naperville Ill was also a feature of the program.

LAWYER PAYS FINE; TRAFFIC CASE ENDS

The protested traffic case of Attorney Robert B Jacoby who objected to paying a fine assessed against him by Municipal Judge W H Martin two months ago when his car was tagged while parked in a restricted parking zone for more than two hours was closed yesterday when the attorney paid the $2.

Jacoby although admitting the automobile in question was his car contended the city was unable to prove he was driving it at the time it was parked in the restricted zone. He was found guilty after hearing before Judge Martin and asked leave to file a motion for a new trial.

At the time set for arguing the motion yesterday Jacoby appeared paid the $2 and the case was dismissed.

Why pay good money for any second-choice tire when FIRST-CHOICE costs no more?

YOU don't have to take anybody's word for the fact that this tire's low priced. Here's what it costs, in big, black type.

You don't have to take anybody's word for the quality these prices buy. Look at the tire. It's a genuine Goodyear. Built in the world's largest tire factories. Guaranteed for life. Full oversize. Bodied with Goodyear Supertwist Cord. Goodyear Speedway by name.

You bet this is a bargain. Goodyear never built a better tire at such prices as these — and millions of motorists know, Goodyear builds the best tires on the road.

Why buy any second-choice tire when FIRST-CHOICE sells at the same low price?

GALION RESIDENT DIES FROM STROKE

Woman Found Unconscious in Room; Taken to Hospital.

GALION, Aug. 10—Mrs. Lynn Whitmore Pfeffer, 70, who was found unconscious yesterday afternoon in her apartment above the Schaffner-Myers clothing store on Harding Way E., died at midnight last night at Good Samaritan hospital.

She was found in a corner of a room where she had fallen after suffering a stroke of paralysis. Neighbors grew worried late yesterday afternoon when she failed to answer knocks of callers. One of the neighbors, Norman Cheap, gained access to the apartment with a ladder, and found her.

Mrs. Pfeffer was the widow of Conrad Pfeffer, an Erie railroad conductor. No close relatives survive her.

Funeral arrangements have not been made. The body was taken to the Snyder funeral home.

BURNS ARE FATAL TO VAN WERT MAN

Local Relatives Will Attend Funeral Thursday Afternoon.

G. O. P. SOLIDARITY PLEA IS MADE HERE

State Candidates Urge Eighth District Republicans to Greater Loyalty.

plunge into this fall campaign with the single thought of "licking the Democrats this fall."

Ingalls carried his left arm in a sling, nursing a broken collar bone suffered two weeks ago in a fall from a polo pony.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, candidate for United States senator, praised the "steadying influence of the hand of Herbert Hoover on the ship of state during the storm of economic readjustment" and urged that the workers "take up the cry of 'Heads Up For Hoover' as their campaign watchword. He also cracked the whip of criticism at Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic aspirant for the presidency.

Roosevelt Scored

The action of Governor Roosevelt in setting the hearing for Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York on the day of the President's speech of acceptance was scored as a "cheap political trick" by Bettman. "It will fail in its intended purpose of diverting the nation's attention from the constructive statesmanship which that speech, I know, will disclose," he said.

He made light of the campaign promises of Governor Roosevelt and pleaded for a greater party loyalty.

Congressman Grant E. Mouser also devoted most of his time to the national situation.

He briefly cited highlights of the Hoover administration where the President, he claimed, had taken significant steps in behalf of the masses. His reconstruction finance program was credited by Mouser with saving 5,600 tottering banks and strengthening fearful insurance companies. Despite this and other similar steps, Hoover has been criticized probably more than any president since Lincoln, Mouser said. He predicted that the voters would recognize the efforts of Hoover to work out the problems of the readjustment period and re-elect him next November.

A plea for the strong partisan spirit of 40 years ago was made by Joseph T. Tracy, candidate for auditor of state.

"It used to be that a man's name would be published in the newspaper if he switched parties," Tracy said. "Now, there are many 'doubtful' party members little more than 'mugwumps,'" he declared.

Prohibition Mentioned

George Bender, candidate for congressman-at-large, was the only candidate to use the word "prohibition" in his talk. His reference to it was that the caravan journey through Ohio had disclosed that Ohioans were interested in more things than prohibition in this campaign.

Carrington T. Marshall, chief justice of the supreme court, kept the audience in laughter during his short talk. Among his statements were, "We are the best supreme court in Ohio," and "you haven't had a better chief justice in the last 12 years."

Frank W. Geiger, candidate for justice of the supreme court, Edward S. Schorr, chairman of the state central committee, and C. H. Lewis of Harpster, chairman of the state campaign committee, urged the workers to "organize and fight" and to do away with party factions.

Other talks were given by L. B. Palmer, candidate for lieutenant governor, George C. Braden, candidate for secretary of state, Harry S. Day, candidate for treasurer of state, John Bricker, candidate for attorney general and Edward S. Matthias, candidate for justice of the supreme court.

L. T. Palmer, candidate for congressman-at-large and Thomas Jones, candidate for justice of the supreme court, were unable to be with the caravan.

Robert L. Rohe of Tiffin, state senator from the 15th-41st district, of which Marion county is a part, accompanied the caravan to Marion yesterday. He returned to Columbus this morning.

On the way to Marion from Granville, the last previous stop, the caravan paused at Sunbury a short time and assisted Simeon Chapman, who said he was the only surviving member of the 16th O. V. I. in the Civil war, in the celebration of his eighty-eighth birthday anniversary. The caravan also stopped a short time for an unscheduled appearance in Delaware where the candidates were introduced and where Ingalls spoke briefly.

After a meeting at Fremont at noon and short stops today at Findlay, Fostoria and Tiffin, the caravan was scheduled to hold a district meeting in Lima tonight. Thursday the caravan will visit Dayton and Cincinnati, and Friday it will meet party leaders in Portsmouth and Columbus.

U. S. Encourages Trading Plan

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—Federal officials are interested in reports from New York of efforts to stimulate commercial relations with Russia although they say they know nothing of the plan.

The American government's policy, it is pointed out in one of encouragement to private enterprise to deal wit the Soviet. The government it is said, has followed the policy enunciated by former President Coolidge and has not put obstacles in the way of such trading but cannot lend more than moral encouragement.

There is no way, officials added, in which the United States as a nation could take a hand in promoting Russian trade.

Officials say the chief difficulty in the Russian trade situation is lack of credit to the Russians.

The only remedy they can see is for private enterprise to advance sufficient credit to Russia to enable it to return to the policy of purchasing in the markets of this country. Much of the business formerly done with United States merchants has been taken over by Germany, England and Italy, where the government guarantees the credit extended to the Russians.

In the year ending June 30, 1932, exports to Russia dropped to $41,-721,000 from $106,673,000 the previous year while imports from Russia fell to $11,077,000 from $16,-967,000.

Madrid, was ordered to attack Seville from the north. Meanwhile all loyal troops were being assembled from the southern provinces, and reinforcements were hurried from Catalonia to stem the revolutionary movement.

The government suppressed the Madrid newspapers and the country was virtually under martial law.

Today's session of congress opened with great excitement. Each minority group had a meeting to determine the stand it would take in the crisis confronting the country.

President Niceto Alcala Zamora who had been absent from Madrid was welcomed by more than 2,000 persons when he returned to the city. His welcomers cheered loudly for the republic.

Advices from Seville quoted authoritative circles to the effect the entire garrison there had joined General Sanjurjo acclaiming him the savior of Spain.

At Barcelona the governor reinforced all detachments of public forces at strategic points throughout Catalonia.

The authorities ordered the arrest, dead or alive, of more than 100 persons, whose names were withheld.

The Syndicalists announced that if the Monarchists succeeded in gaining control they would immediately start a general strike throughout Spain.

Excitement was at high pitch all through the south.

Troops patrolled the streets of Valencia, Ciudad Real, and Orense, keeping indoors all persons who did not join manifestations in favor of the republic.

At Granada troops permitted no civilians in the streets. Malaga was calm, but the civil guard reinforced by regular troops stood guard.

Civil Guards Join Rebellion

By The Associated Press

JEREZ DE LA FRONTERA, SPAIN, Aug. 10—The local garrison of the civil guard mutinied here today and many of the men left for the north to join a rebellion headed by General Sanjurjo at Seville.

There was brief public manifestation against the uprising by the guards when a group of civilians attacked the guard headquarters and took the colonel prisoner.

There was a drum head court martial which sentenced him to be shot but loyal forces arrived in time to save him.

author to tell the whole story to Mrs. Keith-Miller next day.

"The last thing I ever heard Haden say was—'Bill, you're the whitest man I've ever met.'"

Lancaster said he dropped into a deep sleep at the conclusion of the talk to be awakened by the shot.

Explains Notes

Lancaster said Clarke apparently consented to sign the two suicide notes which he has admitted he forged, but could not do so.

"I looked around the room—out in the hall—on the table. I could find no notes or anything to indicate what had happened," he said. "Then I sat down and wrote two suicide notes. I asked Haden if he could sign them.

"Then I did something I should not have done. I took a pencil and signed the notes, one 'Haden' and the other 'H'."

He said the pistol with which Clarke was killed was one he brought back from St. Louis to replace a borrowed weapon which he had pawned. He said he and Clarke discussed the pistol and he warned the writer it was loaded when he placed it on a table between their beds before they retired.

GOV. BYRD TO HEAD PARTY COMMITTEE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—Former Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia has been selected as chairman of the executive finance committee of the Roosevelt-Garner campaign, James Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, announced today.

Former Governor Byrd who was himself a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, visited Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, at Albany, yesterday.

He was here today attending the convention of the International Apple Growers' association.

MINERS' BALLOTS ON PAY SCALE STOLEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 10—Two unarmed men today robbed official tellers of the Illinois Mine Workers of the official miners' election tally sheets which they were bringing from the Ridgely Farmers State bank to the mine headquarters to determine the outcome of a referendum on the proposed 35 a day basic wage scale.

Dale Blackman and George Gee, the tellers, reported the loss to headquarters and to the police. George Dahm of Kellerville, a third teller, broke the news to the miners' watchers, advising them that until the ballots were returned there would be no counting, nor any official results announced.

DEADLINE TODAY FOR HOME RULE PETITIONS

160,000 Signers Necessary To Get Amendment on November Ballot.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 10—Petitions bearing 106,000 signatures must be filed with the secretary of state today if the proposed county home rule amendment is placed on the Ohio ballot, in the November election.

As the deadline for filing the petitions approached, there was no indication as to how many signatures had been obtained, but sponsors of the movement promised a statement during the day.

The petitions were circulated months ago and proponents of the amendment predicted that signers obtained in the larger counties, added to some 60,000 reported from smaller communities, would swell the total to the required number.

The proposed amendment would permit counties to set up governments of their own choosing instead of following one system of rule by elective officers as now required. Thus, where a city adopted the charter rule the county could vote a similar system, permitting uniformity of government in the various subdivisions.

COMMITTEES NAMED AT GRANGE MEETING

Grand Prairie Plans Part In Fair and County Picnic Here.

Mrs. William Risch, Mrs. Ralph Lucas and Mrs. Clarence Petersen were named on a committee to arrange the Grand Prairie grange display at the Marion county fair at a meeting last night at the grange hall.

Charles Holt, Ray Dobbins and Foster Davidson were appointed to arrange a program of athletics for the county grange picnic Aug. 18 at Lincoln park. H. J. Loudenslager of the county fair board gave a short talk.

The exchange program, which Grand Prairie grange will give Aug. 26 at Bethlehem grange, was given last night. Nine young people of the suburbanite grange gave a play, "Popleton's Predicament." Those taking part were George Peterson, Raymond Hinamon, Robert Campbell, Bertha Hurd, Twila Gilbert, Edith Mae Brewer, Esther Risch, Mary Campbell and Marjorie Bibler.

Readings were given by Lillian Risch and Esther Risch. "Getting a Marriage License," a playlet, was given by Mr. and Mrs. William Pride and Elmer Dean. Mr. and Mrs C. P. Myers, Juanita Owings and Edwin Brewer gave a playlet, "Goin' to California." Bertha Hurd and Twila Gilbert sang a duet.

The Juvenile grange members were guests of the suburbanite grange. The next meeting will be Aug. 23.

FIRE DESTROYS CAB OF NEEDLES TRUCK

A piece of a rag which lodged beside the engine is believed to have been responsible for a fire which yesterday afternoon burned the cab from a truck driven by Ray O. Headley of 868 Wilson avenue on the detour near Big Island yesterday afternoon. Firemen from Central station were called. The loss was estimated at $100.

KAYE DON OFF FOR SPEEDBOAT RACES

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 10—Kaye Don, Britains speedboat racing idol and holder of a new world's record upon the water, left here today for Southampton to sail on the steamer Majestic for the United States where he will race against Gar Wood for the Harmsworth trophy at Detroit.

A large crowd of cheering British admirers bade him farewell.

"I am making no promises," he said, "except this I will do the best I can against Wood's boat which has a much greater horsepower than my Miss England III."

GANG IS BLAMED IN SLAYING NEAR HERE

County Authorities Believe Man Taken for "Ride" on By-Road Near Agosta.

the theory that he may have been "taken for a ride" from here.

Authorities also were investigating the possibility that last night's shooting might have been a sequel to a gang war in Lima last Sunday night in which one Italian was wounded and two were arrested by authorities.

Joe Chiagenti, 50, alias Joe Colin, of Lima, is the wounded man, and Art Miller, 40, and Steve Butterly, 24, were held as his assailants, Sheriff Jess L. Barber of Lima announced the opinion that the shooting had followed a Sunday feud there.

Sheriff Barber Monday declared war on the gangsters and declared that further shootings would lead to wholesale arrests of suspects. Local authorities pointed to the possibility that the gangsters might have continued their feud by bringing a victim into this county before murdering him.

The by-road on which the victim was found is a continuation of one of the roads on the detour of route 30 S. Harding highway, which is the principal route between Lima and Marion.

Jars Needed by Jobless To Can Food for Winter

With the canning season getting into full swing Marion housewives are again being asked to come to the assistance of families of the city's unemployed by contributing jars and other receptacles which may be used for preserving fruits and vegetables for next winter.

The appeal was made today by Mrs C V Hudans, home economics chairman of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs. The organization for years is working in cooperation with the Marion Community Fund office in an attempt to provide these receptacles for canning each year in hopes that all request will be filled through the generosity of the city's housewives.

Last year the federation sponsored a number of canning kitchens and supplied many jars and other articles necessary for canning. Lack of available funds makes a repetition of this project impossible.

Get Many Requests

That many of the unemployed of the city are attempting to provide for their families is proven by the number of requests received at the office of the Community Fund for jars for canning. Reports show that in many cases farmers are doing their bit by allowing men to pick blackberries growing on their farms and this in turn brings a request at Community Fund headquarters for jars on lids and rubbers to can for the fruit.

In many instances persons applying for jars at the Community Fund office have attempted to sell part of the berries in order to purchase canning supplies for themselves but are unsuccessful, they report.

Distribution of supplies to 12 families has exhausted the jars received in an appeal made earlier in the season Miss Mildred Lombard, Community Fund secretary reports, and there is now a waiting list of 16 families requesting assistance along this line. A check of families receiving supplies from the federation last year is made by Miss Lombard and these persons are not being given help this year.

Many Have Gardens

In addition to the berries there will be beans beets tomatoes and other vegetables for fall canning and many families have these in gardens of their own, Miss Lombard said. These fruits and vegetables, she pointed out, will be a great help in rounding out meals for persons applying for assistance through the city and Community Fund next winter as provision is made for only staples and a certain amount of inexpensive meat on grocery orders dispensed through these agencies.

Persons having contributions of jars, lids and other canning equipment are asked to leave them at the Community Fund office or telephone the office 2076 and they will be called for. Quart jars which have been used for mayonnaise or pickles may be used Miss Lombard said.

Plymouth is in the spotlight

BECAUSE AMERICA

"LOOKED AT ALL THREE"

You can't fool the American public—especially in times like these.

They're looking at all three lowest-priced cars with critical eyes. Driving all three with an open mind.

And increasing thousands and thousands are picking the new Plymouth.

They admire Plymouth's smart styling. Its new beauty.

They find that Plymouth is longer, bigger, more comfortable to ride in.

In traffic and on open road, they enjoy a new kind of performance—

Floating Power performance. Absolutely vibrationless. Unbelievably smooth. Restful. And so economical!

In the scale of values, they have proved that Plymouth is unquestionably today's more-for-the-dollar car.

Political Soap.

Democratic ingenuity is in full flower this year. On the heels of an announcement that the Democratic speakers' bureau will hand the circuit with speakers of the Gene Tunney type, comes another having to do with soap and campaign expenses. The party will have soap for sale.

Wrapped in red, white and blue paper and bearing the slogan—"Democratic soap—'Let's clean up America'"—each bar will sell for a dime. Of the dime four cents will tinkle into the spacious emptiness of the Democratic treasury. The other six cents will go to a no less worthy place.

Republicans should not overlook the opportunity herein presented. Let them immediately design a wrapper—"Republican soap—To keep the country clean"—and get into competition. There would be, incidentally, little danger of price cutting in such a situation.

The profit motive, however, would be secondary, in case Republicans decided to compete. The primary motive would lie in another direction—political forecasting. By comparing weekly sales figures under such an arrangement any person could know at any given moment which party is having better success peddling its soap. Election returns coming in on a chilly night next November would be an anti-climax to the stirring events of this presidential year, if the soap idea could be put over properly.

A Point of View.

If Frenchmen raised lemons there would be a retort to a resolution by deputies from wine districts condemning use of the innocuous beverage in naval canteens. Wine-makers have all the strength on their side, however. As long as they represent a basic national industry the lemon won't get a chance.

It is interesting to read that wine, beer and cider are hygienic beverages, from the French viewpoint. To criticism of its action in permitting lemonade to be served to hardy sailors, the ministry of marine replies with considerable acerbity that "every sailor-man gets a pint of wine a day from the government, and more if he has extra hard work to do. There has been no violation of the spirit of a wine-drinking nation.

Grape-growing Frenchmen will general the movement to keep France at a safe distance from prohibition. In view of the severe crisis which threatens the very life of the country, their resolution against lemonade reads, "It is inadmissable, above all at a time when Finland has just condemned the dry regime and opinion in the United States severely judges that regime, that disguised maneuvers in favor of prohibition should appear in the French administration."

Brewers and vintners in the United States, forced to argue without the benefit of experiences with prohibition, weren't able to dress up their economic argument with evidence that prohibition couldn't be made to work. Forced to defend themselves in a commercial position they lost strength by being too materialistic. They are having their big inning now, however, when the economic argument for brewing and wine-making, far stronger than it was before 1920, is fortified by the lesson of experience.

So much depends on the point of view. One wonders if an American secretary of the navy ever will publish a policy of serving sailormen extra rations of grog again. Or is the navy so fond of lemonade and orangeade by this time that grog would be tossed over the rail?

Market Starving.

A drastic remedy for a drastic condition, is the way a group of Iowa farmers describe their scheme to boost prices of agricultural products. They will sell no produce for a period of 30 days. Dairy farmers will throw their milk away; poultry raisers will use eggs for target practice. By curtailing supply they hope to sharpen demand and increase their profit.

They are fighting a lopsided battle. Farmers subscribing to the plan are only a fraction of Iowa's rural population. To do what they say they are going to do they will have to sit tight while the majority of farmers take advantage of whatever improvement in the market price there may be before the end of the 30 days. To comfort them they have nothing but an uncertain hope that market conditions will be improved permanently.

At the end of 30 days those who haven't given in will start marketing again, prices that may have increased slightly will be forced down and they will be back where they started, except that they will have lost their normal income for the striking period. It is difficult to understand the reasoning that brought about their decision; it looks like they had been stampeded into a bad decision by desperation.

Consumers derive no comfort from the thought that a sufficiently large number of agricultural producers organized to starve the market could boost prices so high that there would be a disastrous upset of the precarious balance that enables millions of people to live within their curtailed incomes. Fortunately, there is neither the possibility nor the organization existing among the nation's farmers for such an act. Agricultural producers want a fair profit. So do millions of their countrymen. All will have to await the adjustment between supply and demand that only time and nature can bring.

Not a Helping Issue.

The country never worried a great deal about the family payroll racket in congress until revealing it became a favorite pastime during the last session. It is good to know that this abuse of public trust is receiving itself and in a very satisfactory manner.

Nepotism is not a good issue to campaign on. It can't be defended, no congressman has tried. It can not even be talked about openly, excepting by a political opponent. In his hands it is fatal. Voters consider it adequate reason for defeat.

Practitioners of nepotism are trying to cover up. Several dozen of them, caught in the open, will be looking for new jobs when the next congress is assembled. Others, mindful of the example, may try to get their soiled linen off the line before they, too, feel the people's wrath.

An interesting by-play is the revelation that the real sin of nepotism, as so often happens in politics, is getting caught. Strangely enough, scarcely any attempt had been made to hide the abuse; relatives were hired under such thin disguises that concealment appeared pure like burlesque than guile worthy of $10,000-a-year legislators.

In the public attack on this practice, as on many others, there is an indication of vigor that is bound to have a salutary effect. If nothing else has been done, congressmen have been shown that nepotism is regarded by their constituents as a practice which can not be condoned.

Progress.

American delegates returning from the Geneva disarmament conference amid a national silence that is the heightened reflection of their own deep disappointment with the conference's failure will be interested in pictures and newsreels showing an interesting new invention.

It is a tank that can travel over broken ground at a speed of 60 miles an hour or 110 miles an hour on a highway. Light enough to be carried by a bombing plane, it has within its steel, rides power sufficient to enable it to jump over obstacles eight feet high, or to clear a ditch 30 feet wide.

Militarists are interested in the fact that it is the invention of an American. Development of similar tanks by France and Great Britain, notably, has worried the United States army considerably. The potentialities of tanks as instruments of "defense" were demonstrated clearly in the World war. The prospect that improved tanks will be skimming over battlefields dealing death at miles-a-minute speed and leaping over walls is brightened no little bit by the latest manifestation of the mechanical ingenuity of their original inventor, J. Walter Christie, who adds another item to progress, in anticipation of the next war.

When disarmament delegates convene again next winter they will know of the Christie invention; it necessarily will be considered in their deliberations. By that time, too, there will be better airplanes and perhaps a new poison gas to think about. Germany will have started a period of national reconstruction under a regime of military complexion. The balance of power which the treaty makers at Versailles refused to sanction will be reasserting themselves. The race for superiority in armaments will be madder and more furious than ever. Americans may take some comfort in having available as deadly a traveling fortress as any of their international neighbors can produce.

China's Best Resistance.

Fragmentary reports of Japanese troops continuing invasion of Chinese territory with Chinese leadership abdicating in protest against the sleeping giant's passivity in the face of acute danger are a reminder to the occident that the Sino-Japanese conflict did not end when attention drifted elsewhere. Americans are interested, currently, in Europe, international indebtedness and their own problems of recovery, but they will hear much more about the struggle for markets and land in the far east.

It takes two nations to make a war, but one can make an invasion. There is nothing in the news to indicate that China has the ability to foster Japanese troops with any further show of military resistance. Unconsciously, in all probability, the Chinese are falling back to their line of greatest strength—the resistance of inertia and passive hostility presented by the greatest population on earth.

One of the first reactions to realization of Japan's intentions with regard to China was a general opinion of the hopelessness of the program. The possibility of success in the present was granted; the probability of Japanese identity being swallowed up eventually in the vast mass of China's teeming population was stressed at the same time. However, Japanese militarists can not be concerned with what may happen in the centuries that lie before their nation. They are restricted to dealing with the problems they can see.

Japan must have trade outlets and sources of raw material. She does not propose to let anything stand in the way, be it the futile opposition of Chinese soldiers or the League of Nations. Manifest destiny never has waited upon the consent of those who object to working it out realistically, whether it was the United States building an island empire in the Pacific or Japan getting control of territory on the mainland of Asia.

Comment of the Press

MAKING THE KIDS BLUE.

First thing Chicago knows it is going to be accused of cruel and inhuman treatment to radicals, its callous indifference to the feelings and sentiments of these individuals is scandalous.

By throwing a park open to all who have something on their chest and giving them free rein to spout off to the limit Chicago spoiled their happiness by declining to pay any further official attention to them. Radicals don't like neglect and indifference. They prefer opposition which they construe as persecution. Nothing spells the doom for this class of undesirable more than for officials to say "Go ahead" and then calmly ignore them.

The Chicago police reminds one of the traditional tolerance of England in this respect. England is a past master at handling so-called and agitators. It lets them rave and rant off. The British have gone through more painful revolutions than any other modern nation and has learned from experience the value of standing free speech.—Ohio State Journal.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

"Stand and Sit Erect; Feel Fine!"

In a recent article I referred to the importance of proper care of the feet and choice of proper footgear. Today I want to tell you about proper posture and its relation to good health.

Headaches, nausea, "biliousness," loss of appetite, backache — these are a few of the many disorders that may be caused by poor posture. When we stand erect, the muscles of the abdomen are in position and keep the internal organs in their proper place. The digestive organs work best when held in the correct position. The lungs supply plenty of oxygen to the blood when the body is held erect and deep breathing made easy.

It has been repeatedly shown that a slouching position leads to illness and many discomforts. Most amazing is the observation made on children suffering from malnutrition or undernourishment. Many children with bad posture suffer from marked digestive disturbances, in spite of abundant and suitable food.

When these children were taught to hold their bodies in good position there was an increase in the weight and the digestive disturbances disappeared. Indeed, the child who improves his posture increases his appetite, and increased appetite insures better digestion and increased weight.

Many individuals who do not hold themselves properly are merely careless. They do not realize the importance of good posture, and often seek medical advice for the correction of vague and distant complaints. In some cases severe pain is due to faulty posture, and the victims are amazed and often skeptical when advised that the cure will come with correct posture. Their amazement is even greater when correct posture and exercise cause their discomfort and ill health to disappear.

Do you walk stumping forward, shoulders rounded and arms dangling in front of you? If you do, remedy this at once. Walk with the chest well arched forward, the stomach in, head upright, chin in and spine straight. When you take this position you will notice that it is easier to draw your abdomen in as you should. It is easier to breathe, and you will feel much better.

Remember that good health and good posture are closely related. Vigor, increased efficiency and greater happiness will be yours if you give heed to these suggestions.

Yet They Speed On.

It is quite clear that automobile speed is more dangerous to young men in all seasons than is the flying tackle in the football season.—Duluth Herald.

Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, Aug. 10, 1922. Reginald Dunn and Joseph O'Sullivan who shot Field Marshall Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, chief of the British Imperial staff, were hanged just 49 days after the crime was committed.

Clerks, freight handlers and station employes of the Erie railroad were voting to determine whether they should go on strike following the company's refusal to cancel wage cuts or to recognize the union.

The first volume of the Marion centennial scrapbook compiled and arranged by Mrs. W. C. Harris was ready to be turned over to the centennial committee, according to John M. Daigel, committee secretary.

Charles Fetter and Albert McGrath left on a 30-day automobile trip through a number of western states.

Plans for laying the corner stone of the new Wesley M. E. church on Oliver avenue were nearing completion.

Complete returns from the Democratic primary gave H. A. Hartman of Galion a lead of 6,133 in the Democratic race for the congressional nomination.

More than 3,000 farmers from every township in Marion county attended the annual farmer's picnic held at the fairgrounds.

The thirty-second annual reunion of Co. E., 66th regiment, O. V. I. was held in Prospect.

Complete primary returns showed that Charles H. Lewis of Waundel county had defeated Earl W. Warner of Marion in the race for Republican state central committeeman.

Mrs. Clifford M. Brewer entertained 24 boys and girls on the occasion of the seventh birthday anniversary of her son George.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Saturday, Aug. 10, 1912.

Governor Colquitt issued an ultimatum in which he declared he would order out the Texas Rangers to disperse Mexican bandits along the border if President Taft did not immediately order the war department to handle the situation.

Twenty thousand persons filled Fenway park in Boston to greet the American athletes returning from the Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden. Among the victorious Americans was Jim Thorpe who until recently lived in Marion.

A bulletin was posted at the union station warning engineers of the Erie railroad that speed of trains must not exceed 30 miles an hour on a number of points on the Cincinnati division.

More than 2,250 Marionites went to Olentangy park by three special trains to attend the Marion Steam Shovel Co. picnic.

A luncheon was given by Miss Faye Hiber at her home on East Church street complimenting her house guest, Miss Nora Corbett of Wyoming, N. Y., and Miss Margaret Mae [illegible] of Chicago, who was elected Miss Gertrude Schroeter.

CITY OF DISTINCTION.

If you should be in England this summer, we hope that you will include Edinburgh in your itinerary. For it is one of those cities that should not be missed, a city, that, on first acquaintance, becomes a friend, a city with atmosphere, beauty, history and tradition. And what town could ask for more, or offer more? It is the capital of Scotland and that alone would serve to make it a place of distinction.

You will adore Edinburgh from the first moment that you view it, as you leave the station on Princes street—one of the world's most beautiful thoroughfares. The long vista stretches before you, out to Castle Hill. On one side shops and fine buildings, on the other, fresh, green gardens, with Edinburgh Castle perched on the cliff that rises so abruptly from the street.

Edinburgh Castle is worth more than just a canal stroll and visit. Walk about the lovely Esplanade that overlooks the city and then project yourself into yesteryear as you cross the drawbridge, and pass beneath the portcullis into that grim fortress that has seen the centuries wing their way into the corridor that holds the past. Talk to the guides, who are all old veteran soldiers, and they will tell you fascinating stories that are sidelights on history. Visit beautiful St. Margaret's Chapel, built in the eleventh century, and the banquet hall with its collection of armor.

After leaving Edinburgh Castle we stroll to St. Giles Cathedral, erected in the twelfth century. Hard by is a heart engraved on the stone pavement. It marks the site of the old Tolbooth prison, the "Heart of Midlothian," near the cathedral is Parliament House, well worth a visit also. But we'll not tarry. For we are on our way to Holyrood Palace, back into the past.

The old part of Holyrood has been restored to almost the condition it assumed in the days of Mary, Queen of Scots. Stroll through the apartments, perfectly restored, including Lord Darley's room, the room where Rizzio was murdered, and the bedroom of the unhappy queen with its canopied bed and wonderful panelling. History lives again, vivid, exciting as the guides, reenact the tragedy, climaxed by Mary's execution.

FAMOUS EDITORIAL.

The election of Samuel Sullivan Cox to the Ohio newspaper hall of fame renewed the controversy over circumstances under which the editorial, "A Grand Old Sanger," printed in the Ohio Statesman when he was its editor was written. A number of stories bearing on the writing of the editorial are in circulation.

One story is told by friends of the late Virginia Howell. For some months when Mr. Cox was practicing law and writing editorials for the Statesman at Columbus, Mrs. Cox and he lived in rooms in the Howell residence. Miss Howell, though a very small girl at the time, believed that the famous editorial was written in the room there and the contention once has been confirmed by internal evidence.

The towers and turrets of Sterling Medical college were in direct line of vision from the windows and looking toward the place where the sun sinks below the horizon in summer time, and quoted lines in the editorial from the dead that it was across these towers that the writer was looking when he saw the church organ being slowly described.

New York Day by Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Aug. 10.—Many citadels of the rich these days are torn by the communistic zeal of the juniors. A Park avenue penthouse has a daughter who is hot-gospeling calamity from a Columbus Circle soap box. A Fifth avenue family schism reveals two sons crusading at Socialistic centers.

Perhaps the most prominent of dissenters is young Corliss Lamont. His father is a member of the very capitalistic House of Morgan. The son shows extremely liberal tendencies, as does his young wife. They are active in several very radical movements.

It is reported, four members of the Social Register were present at the last "New Masses" ball—not as curiosity visitors, but as those taking a sudden interest in radical tendencies of the day. The son of a steel magnate is starting a revolutionary weekly, too.

Two debutantes have marched in protest parades as a symbol of their resentment to what they call "social wrongs." Elders are looking with toleration upon such activities. One father expressed his indifference over his son's street salvationing with "Anyway, it keeps him out in the open air."

Will Cuppy sponsors the jubilant romanza of a young man who is quoting a psychiatrist, regarding talking to himself. It hasn't bothered him until lately when he came to the sudden conclusion he was a dreadful bore.

* * *

I talked today to an Ol' Clo' Man who circulates in our neighborhood. He smelled of the depraved ammonia now sold for gin and seemed utterly in a funk. Customers who used to part with their cast off garments now refuse to barter. "In three days," he wailed, "my best buy is an old white linen vest."

It strikes me, the only man I know to outsmart the depression is Watterson Rothaker, who has salvaged several millions out of the Hollywood hurrah. A few weeks ago Rothaker closed his Beverly Hills mansion, and with his wife and daughter, mounted the gangplank for a cruise that will take them from the beaten paths—Iceland and where not. Like many others, he owns outright high grade stocks that are now in the cellar. But during his cruise he does not intend to read a single market analysis or listen to a yap about the end of the world.

There is eternal excitement in the outlander in the noisy [illegible] of doors and windy [illegible] elevators in populous [illegible] skyscrapers. One elevator [illegible] off a chunk of humanity [illegible] appears with a swish, while the other spurts a jet of humanity scattering through the polished corridors. Too, there is a self-obliterating functioneer, known as the "[illegible] room boy," in the Los Angeles [illegible] more, who beglamours the [illegible] pajama of pomp. His whisk broom halts in mid-air as I appear and he flutters about as though I might be a Wales incognito. I do not master the hysteric until my visit when, in departing he says, "You was certainly the cat's [illegible] your last picture."

I lacked courage to ask what actor he thought I was, a man afraid he would confess: "O I just kid everybody that way." If he does, it's a grand formula for [illegible] doublings. He got a half dozen dimes from me. And I'm a wait room nickler.

I have been taken at times for Tully Marshall, of the movies, and Pearson McCord, a New York tailor. Then the drunk in Jacks one night, who lurched to my table mumbling: "You know who you look like?" The Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

WHEN MARRIAGE IS A "MERGER."

"Many a true word is spoken in jest"—particularly in Winchell's column.

Take that word "merger," for instance, which is his pet synonym for "marriage."

Every happy marriage is a merger. And, unless marriage is a merger, it's a flop!

The trouble with marriage, today, yesterday and forever, is that it is too often a gamble, an adventure, a racket or a graft. A matter of "give-and-take"—in which one does all the giving, and the other does all the taking.

When marriage is a merger, you pool your interests, your assets and your responsibilities, and share your profits and pleasures as well as your problems and troubles. That is the perfect marriage—the fifty-fifty marriage!

The matrimonial merger is based on reciprocity—and on mutual ambitions, loyalty, fairness and love. Quite a different proposition from the old-fashioned marriage, in which the wife felt that she must "manage," cajole, flatter, coax and hoodwink the husband; and the husband felt that he must bully, coddle, bully and "baby" the wife.

Thanks to economic equality and because of economic necessity, there are more merger-marriages today than there ever have been since the days of the early settlers and the covered wagon, when women worked and fought side by side with their men. And there were no mollusc wives and no stepping husbands.

There are many kinds of merger marriages. I know of at least three, all of them brilliant successes.

The first is that of a brilliant professional man, whose wife merged her life into his career, saved his pennies, handled his financial affairs, took care of his digestion, and boosted him to the top of his profession.

The second is that of a popular woman writer, whose husband, a successful business man, has found time to devote himself to her ambitions, protect her interests, manage her business affairs, and quadruple her income. Also, to star her, and to relieve her of all the petty business details which cramp a writer's style and make life a torment.

The third is that of a business man and a business woman, who started a small enterprise together, worked up from scratch, and finally landed on Millionaire Row.

The two things in common in all these marriages, were a deep and abiding love and a mutual ambition. Perfect understanding, perfect loyalty, perfect faith and perfect fairness. Reciprocity!

When all marriages become "mergers," marriage will cease to be a lottery or "a long chance" and become a Sure Thing. And that day is not far off!—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Daily Talk to Parents

BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

WITHOUT PURPOSE.

An eight-year-old girl is characterized by a complete lack of purposive behavior.

She is not stupid, but her games have neither beginning nor end. Although she dresses herself, on the insistence of her mother, she does it vaguely, slowly, without, apparently, any sense of having finished a task when she is through. Opportunities which would stimulate another child to active play win from her only a passive response.

"Obviously a case of faulty habit training," one is tempted to say. Yet there has always been a conscientious effort to cultivate independence and purposive play.

The mother, from the very first, provided accessible books for clothes and towels and wash cloths. There was outdoor play equipment in abundance, and indoors there were all the play materials that usually stimulate good play—building blocks, dolls and housekeeping toys.

One must then look further for this child's curious inability to convert a wish into a purpose and to bring to the purpose the will to persevere until it has been accomplished.

One observes that behind the face of busyness which characterizes the mother there lies a sense of utter futility. Here perhaps is the root of the difficulty. Some thing which is never said nevertheless permeates the atmosphere of the home.

"I heard mother tell [illegible] yesterday," the child volunteers, "that life is just a matter of passing the time."

It can not be too often emphasized that in shaping a child's development nothing is more potent than the parent's own personal attitudes.

SCHOOL TERM PLANS MADE

Kenton Faces Problems In Operating for Entire Term This Year.

Special to The Star

KENTON Aug 10 — After working for many weeks in an effort to outline a schedule to meet the new problems which affect the administration of high school during the coming

Principal D B Metzger explained the new system that has been drawn up

1 There will be two less weeks on the high school faculty

2 There are 60 more students enrolled totaling a total of 545 this year as compared with 485 last year

3 There is a possibility that the school term may be cut short (If the three mill school levy is not passed all schools may have to close again in March 1933)

Despite the serious difficulties he encountered in preparing a schedule Mr Metzger believes he has arranged a program that will adequately provide for all students at a minimum of inconvenience

MRS. CARAWAY LEADS IN ARKANSAS RACE

Democratic Woman Senator Virtually Assured of Gaining Renomination

By the Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK Ark Aug 10 Senator Hattie W Caraway of Jonesboro and Chancellor J Marion Futrell of Paragould appeared today to have the Democratic nominations for senator and governor respectively within their grasp on the basis of returns from almost half the precincts in the state

Mrs Caraway the first woman ever to occupy a seat in the United States senate through an election had more than a two-to-one lead over the nearest one of her six male rivals as returns were tabulated from 853 of the approximately 2 100 precincts in the state

These gave her 39 10" votes with Major O J Bodenhamer of Eldorado past national commander of the American Legion running second with 19 797 votes and Vincent M Mills of Fort Smith for 17 years Democratic national committeeman in third place with 8070 Former Governor Charles H Brough had 7 248 for fourth position

The jurist running with the support of Governor Harvey Parnell was far out in front in the seven cornered gubernatorial race Returns from 938 precincts gave him 57 071 votes with his closest contender former Governor Tom J Terral who had 18 559 votes

CAPONE PROSECUTOR GETS JUDGE'S POST

Hoover Promotes Attorney Who Sent Many Gangsters to Prison

CHICAGO Aug 10 George E O Johnson the man who was largely instrumental in putting Al Capone behind prison bars has been named by President Hoover as federal district judge for northern Illinois

The appointment announced in Washington yesterday was interpreted by Chicago friends of the federal district attorney as a reward for his 100 per cent record in sending a dozen other gangsters and politicians to prison for evading their income taxes

At the same time the President named Assistant U S Attorney Dwight H Green to take Johnson's place as chief federal prosecutor in Chicago Both are recess appointments and must be confirmed by the senate when it meets in its short session in December

For three years Johnson has stood as a thorn in the ride of Chicagos gangland Terry Druggan Frankie Lake Jack and Sam Guzik and Frank Nitti were among others outwitted by the soft spoken little man

Garden Is Setting for Tuesday Study Club Picnic Meet

THE lovely gardens at the home of Mrs. John A. Schroeter of 417 East Center street afforded a charming setting for the picnic supper last evening arranged for the pleasure of members of the Tuesday Study club. The supper preceded a short business session and an evening of bridge. Mrs. F. E. Edmondson of New York City, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Schroeter, was a guest of the club.

During the business session Miss Alice Caulfield, president of the club, conducted a short business session and the following chairmen were announced: Mrs. Roy J. Garceau, American citizenship; Miss Kathryn Dormody, art; Mrs. W. R. Martin, civic and child welfare; Mrs. L. A. Axe, conservation; Mrs. Mary Maxwell, education; Mrs. D. W. Diabennett, extension; Mrs. Thomas Kerrigan, finance; Mrs. M. Goss, health; Mrs. Herman Feldner, legislative; Miss Edna Dutton, literature and motion pictures; Mrs. J. J. Fahey, memorial; Mrs. W. K. Drake, music; Mrs. C. C. Fye, parliamentary; Mrs. J. K. Schwinger, patroness, and Mrs. A. L. Blatz, social. Programs for the year also were distributed.

Honors at bridge were presented Mrs. C. W. Fairbanks.

The picnic was in charge of members of the social committee of which Mrs. A. L. Blatz is chairman. She was assisted by Mrs. L. A. Axe, Mrs. J. T. McNamara, Mrs. J. K. Schwinger, Mrs Thomas Kerrigan, Miss Kathryn Dormody and Miss Alice Caulfield.

Predict Eastern Victory

Victory in the entire strategic section was predicted by G. O. P. leaders as they scanned the acceptance speech Mr. Hoover will make tomorrow night. To Senator Hebert of Rhode Island, an opponent of prohibition and eastern campaign manager for the Republicans, President Hoover's much-awaited reference in that speech to prohibition is "satisfactory."

Hebert added that the reference would "back the Republican resubmission plank."

The tentative plans for the President's eastern speeches, probably after mid-September, mean, said Republican campaign managers, that they intend an aggressive drive in the region from which Democrats hoped their pledge for repeal would draw many votes.

Hebert will be in direct charge of the eastern area. Helping him will be John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, former house Republican leader, and Jeremiah Milbank of New Jersey. Tilson will handle speakers and Milbank money.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY TWO CHURCHES

Howard Bauer Named Superintendent of Sunday School.

Other officers elected were: Grant West, assistant superintendent; Miss Mary Schnegelsberger, secretary; Mrs. Glenna Shriner, treasurer; Miss Margaretta Heinlein, pianist, and Miss Emma Black, librarian.

The annual election of First United Brethren church also was held with A. H. Laughbaum being named treasurer; Mrs. Gertrude Garberich, financial secretary; Mrs. M. F. Gwinner, secretary of the official board; and O. J. Dewalt, general usher. The following stewards were elected for various districts of the city: Mrs. Frank Kinsey, Mrs. Mae Burnison, Mrs. Emma Plotner, Mrs. C. E. Buckingham, Mrs. Craner, Mrs. C. E. Ackerman, Mrs. Laura Hoffmire; J. E. Morton, Leslie Smith, A. A. Serrick and A. H. Laughbaum.

MT. GILEAD SCHOOL PRINCIPAL ELECTED

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 10—The appointment of Wayne Galladay, as principal of the high school here was made at a meeting of the board of education last night. Galladay, who will take up his new duties at the beginning of the school year, has served as assistant principal of the high school at Delaware for the last three years.

The appointment of Miss Olive Jones as English teacher in the high school was also made.

My Beauty Hint

BY FRANCES STARR

MY SECRET of keeping thin is no secret at all. I simply go to bed without my dinner.

A busy woman needs nourishment at noon-time. When I am working in the studio, I eat at noon as I will have "power" for the afternoon.

A glass of milk or orange juice at night, with an apple or lettuce for bulk, makes one feel amazingly thin on arising the next morning. I think women should eat enough to be healthy, but they should choose the proper time to do it.

meters. The breast stroke is slow, for at every stroke the body loses momentum and must be restored to motion by a violent kick. With the "crawl" stroke motion is uninterrupted.

There is the same difference between the piano and violin. Music flows continuously from the violin, as from the vocal cords. That puts the violin ahead of all other instruments.

Very nice girls are in that race, those of European race tall, long legged. Japan's young lady, Miss H. Machata, not so tall, smiles like one of the little Japanese dolls that you see, with bobbed hair on their foreheads. Her arms and legs are not as big as those of her whiter sisters, but she can swim.

She comes in No. 2, beaten by Miss C. Dennis, from Australia. Great excitement when Miss Machata, who led at first, was swimming what seemed to be a dead heat with Miss Jacobsen of Denmark and Miss Dennis of Australia.

Australia won, with a new Olympic record for 200 meters, breast stroke, of three minutes, six and three-tenths seconds. The first three finished the race almost in the same second, Miss Machata and Miss Jacobsen both beating the Olympic record.

COME FOR THE last few days of these Olympic games, which prove, indeed, that we are "fearfully and wonderfully made."

Everybody in Los Angeles will welcome you, each delighted to see you.

In Mr. Charles Baad's Biltmore Sweet Shop, where you breakfast, girls that wait on you are so beautiful they look practically alike. There is no difference in perfection.

In doubt, you ask one of them, "Are you my young lady?" and she replies instantly, with a smile that would make the Mona Lisa seem dull, "I should like to be." After that you can hardly say, "Please hurry these eggs."

PLANS TO ATTEND CONVENTION MADE

A card party followed the regular business meeting when members of Mary A. Canfield Council No. 210, Daughters of America, met last night in the Junior Order hall. Plans were made to attend the state convention in Akron next week. Mrs. Charles McCombs will represent the council as a delegate. Among those planning to attend are Mrs. James W. Thompson and Mrs. Bert Yeakum.

Awards for high scores at cards were won by Mrs. Charles Custer, Mrs. Carl Poffer, Harry Hoch and I. O. Lorax. Plans for the card party were in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Ruth Pugh, Mrs. Helen Pugh and Mrs. L. W. Allen. Another card party will follow the next regular meeting in two weeks.

Correct Sitting Postures Add Beauty, Comfort; Don't Slump

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

One of the cleverest beautyisms I've ever heard was expressed recently by a woman over the radio. She said "Never sit down! Sit UP!"

Of course I have discussed sitting postures in this beauty column for many years, but that particular phrasing puts the situation so aptly that I wanted you to have it. I wish every one of you could hang huge placards about your house or office, so that every time you slumped down into your chair that sign "SIT UP!" would meet your eyes.

Slumping into a chair not only throws the whole body out of alignment; but it doesn't even relax and rest the body, placing a strain on it instead.

Mostly we like to conserve our strength, for this means retaining healthy tissue to carry us happily and beautifully along the years.

Thriftiness of muscle and tissue is the great secret of physical beauty.

Therefore, let us review the principles of correct sitting posture, so that after a little conscious practice we will always "sit up" instead of down.

The body should be lowered into a chair always by controlled motion of the legs and back. The spine should be kept erect, the upper part of the body being supported in an erect position from the hips, as one foot is drawn back and the knees bent, thus lowering the body into the chair.

Keep Your Chest Raised

Sit as far back in the chair as you can so that at least the lower part of your spine rests against the back of the chair. Keep your chest raised, not stuck out with a tensing of muscles that makes the upper part of the body rigid, but raised so that the shoulders are pushed back and dropped a little.

It is simply amazing how the correct sitting position rests the body! It keeps the abdomen pulled in and muscles tensed, so that distended "tummy bulges" do not mar the trim outlines of the figure. Then, too, this very position frequently keeps fatty pouches from collecting around the waist and hips, to say nothing of the added gracefulness of the body while one is sitting.

Somehow, people just naturally respect and admire women who sit properly more than those who slump around.

When rising, don't place your hands on the arms of the chair and push yourself up out of it instead, place one foot forward a little and push hard with both feet, straightening your knees at the same time. You'll find yourself standing erect at the completion of this movement.

"Well, I've ruined my suit after all," he said comically.

Sondra made no reply; she was biting her lip to keep from trembling. She felt as if something within her heart was breaking—as if presently she would have to give way to the tears that were choking her.

Anderson saw the pallor of her face.

"I'm sorry if you were scared," he said rather stiffly. "There was never any real danger. I was hardly out of my depth and the boy had the good sense not to struggle."

They reached the little cottage tucked away in a sheltered corner; the door stood wide open and there seemed to be nobody about.

"I'll just hunt around for some clothes," Anderson said. "I think I must have left some here when I was down last summer."

He disappeared upstairs, and Sondra went into the little sitting room.

She sat down in a low chair and leaned her head back against the cushions.

"If John had been drowned . . ." she could not drive the thought from her mind. She felt that she could never bear to look at the sea again.

She did not move till she heard him coming down the stairs, then with an effort she opened her eyes and sat up.

John came into the room smiling and cheerful in an old flannel coat and trousers that badly needed pressing.

"They're all I could find," he apologized. "When Ellen comes back she'll soon get my other things dry. Not exactly smart, are they?"

She tried to answer, but no words would come and he looked at her in surprise.

"What's the matter, Sandra?.... why——"

She began to sob broken-heartedly.

"You might have been drowned ...you might have been drowned."

He stood silently looking at her, a strange expression in his eyes. Then he laughed. "Nonsense—there wasn't the least danger....I'm sorry if you were frightened, Sondra! I thought you had more courage than this."

She had broken down utterly and it was some minutes before she could control herself. Anderson walked away and stood with his back turned looking out of the window; there was a queer look of pain in his eyes, and his mouth was set in a hard line.

It seemed a long time before either of them spoke then Sondra said in a stifled voice:

"I'm sorry...I suppose you think I'm a fool...but it was horrible... standing there...not being able to help."

He turned then.

"Well, you seem to have got thoroughly wet in the attempt anyway. Run away and change your dress at once. Why haven't you done it already? Do you want to catch your death of cold?"

She disregarded his words; she went on sobbing.

EWING, Neb.—Ogda Wood, mechanic, jeweler, and inventor, has a set of aluminum false teeth. Wood fashioned the teeth from a battered aluminum tea kettle. He says the teeth are satisfactory.

JUST GRANDPA TO HER

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt may be the distinguished Democratic nominee for President to most people but he's just "grandpa" to little Ann Dahl, shown frolicking with him in the pool of the Roosevelt home at Hyde Park, N. Y. Little Ann is almost as fond of swimming as her famous grandfather who takes a dip every day, whether in Albany or at home.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lillian's Promise Reawakens Madge's Rebellion.

WHILE I make no claim to being psychic, something outside of myself seemed to possess me as I heard Helena ask Lillian to "promise me—" and Lillian's query as to what the promise was to be. Even before Helena's pitifully weary voice went on; I anticipated almost her very words—sensed them in my brain, before my ears heard them.

"Promise you won't leave me till Sam and Carolyn come back. Promise, and I'll let them put me to sleep. If you don't, I won't. I can't. I'll die first!"

Her voice was rising hysterically now, and I could imagine the glance that Lillian sent her husband and the steady, loving, helpful look she received in return. And then, as is always Lillian's way, she crushed down her own need to administer to that of another, and put her foot upon the first step of what I knew would be a Via Crucis for her.

"I Won't Leave You"

"Yes, dearest, I'll promise you that I won't leave you till they come back, unless you send me yourself."

I do not think Helena heard the last words, for Lillian's voice lowered as she uttered them, almost as if she were afraid to add them. There was utter silence for an instant, then Helena said, as might a child:

"All right. I'll keep quiet. But you must hold my hand every minute."

There was quick movement in the chamber now, and once a slight little cry, as the needle jabbed Helena's arm. But I could guess with what a firm, tender clasp Lillian was holding her friend, and the hot tears rushed to my eyes as I thought what that promise must have cost Marion's mother. To stay quiescent, tethered, by the side of this sick, hysteria-ridden woman, while the expedition to rescue her daughter went away without her—I could imagine her agony.

If there were only some way that I could take her place with Helena, but I shoved that suggestion aside as useless. If Helena Brixton did not actively dislike me, she did not care for me particularly, sensing, perhaps, my indifference to her, and even if she had been excessively fond of me, I knew that never would she have permitted me to take Lillian's place beside her. She had tied Lillian as if she had used a trap, and my heart was hot with anger as well as grief, as I realized what Lillian was facing as the result of Helena's weakness.

Then my anger turned against myself, for I knew full well that I was using Lillian even more cruelly than was Helena. Carolyn's mother had at least the excuse of being hysterical with grief, not responsible for what she was doing, when she demanded that promise, so terrible for Lillian to make. But I, strong, with no personal grief, gnawing at my heart, had put it out of my own power to go to Lillian and say, "I will go with the rescue party, so that if Marion cannot have you with her, she at least will have me."

A Call from Newark

In that moment I almost hated Dicky for exacting that promise from me, and when Helena, after a little, yielded to the hypodermic and fell asleep, I waited only to give Hugh's massage to Marry, then pleading a headache—for Lillian insisted upon keeping to the letter of her promise and staying in Helena's room—I went to my own room and fought out with myself the question of whether I should keep the promise I made to Dicky, or break it.

My mental battle went on all the afternoon. Rarely have I spent such bitter hours. Before I had come to any decision, however, the telephone rang and when I answered it the operator said:

"Is this Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Richard Graham?"

"Yes."

"The party calling wishes to know if your home is in Sag Harbor."

"Yes, yes." My heart began to pound affrightedly, as it always does at a telephone and when service I do not know. "Is this a local or long distance call?"

"Long distance." Then, as the site screen I visioned the farmhouse burned down, and the children killed, she added "Deep Haven."

"Newark!" I echoed. "I know no one in Newark; at least no one who knows I am here."

"Will you take the call?" she repeated, a bit impatiently.

"Yes." And then there came to my ears a sing-song voice, unmistakably Chinese.

"This Missee Graham?"

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Aug. 11

A CHANGE of great importance is presaged from the dominant lunar transits that rule the destinies set in motion on his day. There is a figure of radical influence on mundane affairs, bringing new opportunities, advantageous changes and a general stirring up of conditions tending to promote fortunes and position. It is probable that employment is involved, either promotion, honors of distinction from the hands of those in high places. It is a time to push for such preferment.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of great importance, marked by events of far-reaching influence on their fortunes, position and happiness. Employment may bring advantage, with promotion, preferment or honors, the time being propitious for seeking these. Travel and adventure are likewise in store. A child born on this day will be skillful, ingenious, original, independent and fond of novelty and adventure. It should attain high position and the favor of those in power and authority.

Notable nativity:
Carrie Jacobs Bond, composer.
